Standard Complaints and Dispute Resolution Procedure

Introduction

QEnergy has a customer focussed approach to its business and is committed to effective and efficient resolution of customer complaints and disputes. The accountability for complaints and disputes handling and reporting is part of the Customer Experience Managers tasks and activities. Information on all complaints and disputes is reported and tracked on a weekly, monthly and year to date basis. This information is reported to the Board of Directors on a monthly basis and timely resolution of all issues is a customer service key performance indicator. A number of internal reports are also created to help identify trends.

This document is designed to outline the customer complaints and disputes management process for QEnergy. QEnergy staff at all levels understands and comply with the processes that are used to deal with customer complaints and disputes. It also shows how complaints and disputes are escalated. This document broadly aligns with ISO – 10002: 2006

The Five Elements for Complaint Handling

To effectively handle customer complaints and disputes QEnergy adopts these five elements to ensure the best possible outcome –

- Culture
  - QEnergy has a culture of valuing complaints as a means of strengthening and improving customer relations and interactions with its customer base

- Principles
  - QEnergy has a well-defined complaints handling system that is based on the principles of fairness, accessibility, responsiveness, efficiency and integration

- People
  - All customer service staff at QEnergy receive extensive customer service training and are well equipped to be able to deal with a very broad range of issues

- Process
  - QEnergy has seven stages that are used when handling a complaint. These are -
    - Acknowledgement
- Assessment
- Planning
- Investigation
- Response
- Review
- Consideration of systemic issues

Analysis
- QEnergy use all information that is gathered from the complaints system as part of a continual process of improvement and organisational review.

How are complaints notified by small customers

QEnergy has a number of methods available to small customers for notification of complaints including:

(a) Our customer enquiry line on 1300 698 992 for the cost of a local call from anywhere in South Australia, New South Wales, Queensland and Victoria.
(b) By facsimile on 1300 887 162.

(d) Via our email at service@qenergy.com.au.
(e) By mail at QEnergy Limited, Customer Experience, P.O. Box 3043, South Brisbane, Qld 4101.

The above methods of notification of complaints are:-

- Verbally advised to customers;
- Contained in our Customer Charter;
- Set out in our Contract with the Customer; and
- Available on our website.

The Handling of Complaints and Response Time for Complaints

As outlined in the Five Elements for Complaint Handling set out above, QEnergy has a well-defined and documented complaints and disputes resolution process. The process is one that allows for continual improvement and ensures that all complaints are tracked and maintained in an efficient and effective way.
Each of the steps is designed to allow for all types of complaint whether they are complicated or simple. Some of the steps can be removed if the nature of the enquiry is simple.

ACKNOWLEDGE

And record details about the complaint. Ensure that all detail and any deadlines are recorded.

ASSESS

The complaint checking for things such as severity, potential impact, complexity and priority

PLAN

The investigation taking into consideration priorities, complexity and deadlines.

INVESTIGATE

The details of the complaint. The investigation should be commensurate with the seriousness and the complexity of the issue

RESPOND

All complaints should be responded to within 2 business days. Customers will be informed if it will be longer than that.

FOLLOW UP

Any customer service concerns. A customer feedback process ensures that QEnergy actively seeks details on how well we did.

CONSIDER

What the complaint was and if it was an exception or a systemic issue that requires process improvement.
Methods of Response

QEnergy believe in old fashioned customer service and we pride ourselves on providing real Customer Service Representatives for our Customers to speak to in the event that there is a complaint or dispute.

This means that the main method of response to customer complaints or disputes by QEnergy will be telephone contact by one of our expert Customer Service Representatives. However, we are guided by the preferred method of response if one is indicated by the customer such as by email or in writing.

Escalation Process and referral to the Industry Ombudsman

The escalation process is to ensure that customers are aware of how QEnergy handles their complaint. It outlines how we attempt to resolve the issue at the first point of contact and gives them an understanding of what steps to go through if they feel that their issue has not been adequately addressed.

First call resolution is a Key Performance Indicator for the QEnergy customer service team.
If the issue remains unresolved or you are still dissatisfied the customer is referred to the Energy and Water Ombudsman in their State as set out below
